AGRICULTURAL & DOMESTIC.

Now that time is so short, we shall pay more than usual attention to what we have to do. We have always felt a deep interest in the progress and prosperity of our country, and knowing that in the improvement of the soil lies the great secret of both, it shall be our constant aim, in the Compiler and otherwise, to urge forward the work necessary to such improvement. The task will be pleasant, for two reasons:—because we like farming, and because we will be doing good.

To this column will be found whatever of value may come under our notice, whether it refer to bettering the soil, improvement of seed, raising and feeding of stock, fruit culture, and so on. We expect to give an article of our own occasionally, and invite our farmer friends to assist us by such contributions as their experience and observation may suggest.

Domestic recipes, &c., will also find a place in this column.

Pears in Berks County.

The Berks County Agricultural Society has appointed a special committee on promoting the growth of fruit in that county. The committee commences this fall with Pears. To the end in view, their intention is to furnish standard Pear Trees, of the best kinds, to farmers and others, at prices justly covering the cost of purchase and transportation—say five dollars per dozen for the most vigorous and choice varieties. The idea is a good one, and should be generally adopted. What say you to it, farmers of Adams?

How to Bring Up Sandy Land.

Jas. Clayton, Mason county, Ill., writes: We have a good deal of land in this county on which nothing but rye can be grown, it being nearly clear sand. What is the best way to improve the sandy soil? Such land may probably be brought into cultivation so that a tolerable crop of corn, wheat and roots will follow in a few years. Buckwheat sown now on land which has a small degree of humus, or 200 or 300 pounds of bone dust per acre, will give good growth probably. Plant corn soon after the first blossoms appear, and then sow rye. In spring, when the rye begins to head, turn it under and sow corn, or sorghum, broom-corn, or indurata if the land is weedy, which it probably is not. In August, and if the corn or sorghum or turnips may be sown, (the latter quite thickly) and this crop plowed under; the buckwheat, before frost, or the turnips before hard freezing. After this you will be able in all probability to get a good crop of corn, which means wheat or anything else, (after it) provided the same system is kept up, and a well manured crop is introduced once in about four years.

A Mule Mare with a Colt.

The Fort Wayne (Indiana) Gazette, of the 25th ult., gives the following remarkable story, for the correctness of which it vouches: "It may be of some interest to stock growers to know that Mr. Robert Bennett, of this city, has a mule with a young colt, the latter about four weeks old. The fact is quite remarkable and worth remembering. There is no mistake about the matter—the mule is the mother, and the colt is the son. In the photograph, brought us a photograph of the animals this morning—a remarkably good picture—the colt imitating a breakfast, and the mother tied to a post with a halter. The picture may be seen at our office. It ought to be secured by the Agricultural Society."

Facts for Farmers.

Subterranean Ants.—It is well known that cream can be converted into butter by simply being buried in the ground; but it is not generally known that this mode is in common use in Normandy and some other parts of France. The process is as follows: The cream is placed in a linen bag of moderate thickness, which is carefully secured and placed in a hole in the ground about a foot and a half deep; it is then covered up and left for twenty-five hours. When taken out, the cream is very hard, and only requires beating for a short time with a wooden mallet, after which half a glass of water is thrown upon it which causes the butter-milk to separate from the butter. If the quantity to be converted into butter is large, it is left more than twenty-four hours in the ground. In winter, when the ground is frozen, the operation is performed in the cellar, the bag being well covered up with sand. Some persons place the bag containing the cream within a second bag, in order to prevent the chance of any leak from the earth. This system saves labor, procures a larger amount of excellent butter, and, moreover, it is said never to fail.

A Poisonous Tomato Worm.

The Port Byron (N. Y.) Times says that several persons near Auburn have recently been fatally stung by a large worm, which is called the "tomato worm." It is a few inches long, and is covered with a black horn protruding from its front some three-fourths of an inch long. A writer in the Rochester Express states that a few days since he took one of these worms from his tomato vine, and confined it about a week in a glass jar, and it was found to be a black horn protruding from its front some three-fourths of an inch long. A writer in the Rochester Express states that a few days since he took one of these worms from his tomato vine, and confined it about a week in a glass jar, and it was found to be a black horn protruding from its front some three-fourths of an inch long.

Early Radishes.

A writer in Gallagher's Messenger states that radishes may be grown in a few days by the following method:—Let some good radish seed soak in water for twenty-four hours, then put them in a bag and expose it to the sun. In the course of the day germination will commence. The seed must then be sown in a well manured hot bed, and entered into the soil with the finger. The radish seed, when sown, must be in a very short time, acquire a sufficient bulk, and are good to eat. It is required to get radishes good in winter during the severe cold, an old oak should be saved in two, and one half of it filled with good earth. The radish seed beginning to shoot as before, must be sown in it, and the other half of the barrel put in the top of the full one, and then placed on the cellar. For watering, lukewarm water should be used as before. In the course of a few days the radishes will be fit to eat.

The corn crop is fully matured throughout the west, and such an abundant yield is not within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. The wheat and rye fields are sowed, and have come up finely.

It is about time to revive that old joke: "The best agricultural fair—farmer's daughters."

When an alliance is likely to get wet, it is right.

New Skirt for 1865-6.

THE GREAT INVENTION OF THE AGE IN HOOP SKIRTS.—J. W. BRADLEY'S NEW PATENT DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (or double) SPRING SKIRT.—This invention consists of Duplex or Double Elastic Pure Refined Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable spring ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the single spring, and they are perfectly perfect and beautiful shape more than twice as long as any single spring skirt ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, theaters, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, arm chairs, promenades and house dresses, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt for a single day will be very desirous to wear it every day. For children, misses and young ladies, they are superior to all others. The Hoops are covered with 2-ply double twisted thread and will wear the long time. The skirt which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rods on every Skirt are also Double Steel, and twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods when dragging across stone steps, &c., &c., which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegant Corded Tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical Skirt ever made.

Soluble Pacific Guano.

JOHN S. REESE & CO. would call attention to the fact that they are now agents for THE PACIFIC GUANO COMPANY, 71 South Street, Baltimore.

The Soluble Pacific Guano resembles Peruvian Guano in appearance, odor, and composition. The value of it as a fertilizer depends, as is well known, upon the per cent. of Ammonia, Soluble Phosphate and Bone Phosphate of Lime it contains. This Guano differs from Peruvian only in the fact that it contains less Ammonia, but is more soluble, and is more than made up by the fact that it contains almost double as much Soluble and Bone Phosphate of Lime. This difference makes it a durable fertilizer, with all the activity of Peruvian Guano. Although the price of this Guano is only one-half that of Peruvian, it is not higher than the Super Phosphate of Lime, yet it contains, as is proven by analysis and inspection, vastly more of ammonia, soluble and Bone Phosphate, than the Super Phosphate of Lime. It is, therefore, a more economical and valuable manure than either of the latter. We wish farmers to take special notice, that the conditions upon which we have the right to sell this Guano are such that we are regularly inspected and analyzed by Dr. Liebig, whose authority in such matters is paramount.

This arrangement affords us and consumers a protection against the purchase of inferior quality of Guano. It must also be noticed that the phosphates of this Guano are not a mineral, but earthy phosphates, which is greatly to its advantage.

The following is a summary of analysis of last cargo: Moisture, 10 per cent. Organic Combustible Matter, 39.71 " Earthy Matter, 50.28 " Yielding Ammonia, 3.40 per cent. Soluble Phosphate of Lime, 17.07 " Bone Phosphate of Lime, 34.32 "

Bone Flour.

UNADULTERATED, MANUFACTURED BY THE BOSTON MILLING AND MANUFACTURING COMPANY. The value of Bone Flour, when reduced to the condition of Flour, is as active as if dissolved with acid, and is far better, because it retains all its Phosphates. Its superiority over the common Bone Flour is two-fold or more. It is a consummation sought for in vain for the last half century, and is destined to give new value to Bone as a fertilizer, and work a revolution in its use. The BONE FLOUR is made only by the above company, and is branded with the trade mark, which is the guarantee of its genuineness.
